Summary

As a Computer Science student at Western University, I combine technical skills, teaching expertise, and creativity. My background includes over two years as an English tutor, enhancing my communication and leadership abilities, essential in tech. I've also explored technology's creative aspects through freelance video editing. Currently, I'm focusing on building a portfolio for a computer science internship, aiming to blend my diverse experiences with my technical knowledge. I'm keen to connect with tech professionals to learn, collaborate, and contribute to innovative technological advancements.
